THERE HAS BEEN AN AWARENING.

The speaker then gave numerous illustrations, many of which were extremely humorous, to show the fallacy of the Republican arguments in favor of high tariff.

He said that in former days the prejudices out West were so strong that a Democrat could hardly argue his side of the question. On one of the first occasions that he ever debated in Nebraska his adversary harped upon the war more than anything else, and devoted most of his discussion to it.

Finally he concluded by distributing to the audience copies of the New York Tribuse containing an account of Lincon's assassination.

Mr. Biryan said he did not thank this was fair, and that had he known what his opponent was going to do he would have brought a Bible and read the people the story of Cain and Abel.

Recently, however, there had been an awakening.

present system of unjust taxation.

THE WINLEY BILL'S ORIGIN.

The Republican party in 1888 went before the people and told them that they believed a tariff revision would be beneficial to the agricultural interests which were depressed, and for this reason they originated the McKinley bill. It was like the story of the young student who was studying medicine. After "cramming" for his examinations he took some whiskey, thinking that it would brighten his mind, but instead of doing this the liquor made him drunk. The professor, when he first laid a case before the student, asked him what he would do and the latter replied, "Bleed him." Seeing that something was wrong, and westing to give the young man a fair chance, the teacher then said: "But suppose that wouldn't do him any good?" "Oh, "replied the student, "then bleed him again."

KEEP ON ELECTION HIM.

"But suppose he was too west to sit up?", queried the patient professor. "What then?"

"Prop him up and bleed him again." replied the student, still clinging to his old idea.

And this was the plan of the Republicans. When he gets weres they raise the same old cry, and they are trying now to find some way to "prop him up and bleed him again." When he gets were they raise the same old cry, and they are trying now to find some way to "prop him up and bleed him again." "If you want its thing," said the speaker, "you can have it for the asking. If you don't want it you are the people to prevent it.

"When a big man pounds a hitle one and throws him down and beats him the little one cries out 'Nuff'; and so, if we do not like the present system of tariff, we also, standing united, can cry 'Nuff' and overcome the evil." (Great applause.)

Mr. Beran's speech was well received. He was

Mr. E. Y. Cannon appeared with a petition for the construction of a larger sewer on Marshall street between First and Second, to be extended on other streets. He spoke of the improvements recently made along the line mapped out, and said that other improvements were being contemplated should this work be done by the city. The City Engineer favored the petition and said that it would be wise for the ward committee to devote the balace of his recent appropriation to this purpose. He said the culver would cost about $15,000. The matter was referred to the City Engineer and the ward committee with power to act.

On motion it was decided to request the President of the locard of Aldermen to call a meeting of that body for next Tuesday evening for the consideration of the report of the Street Committee upon work to be done in this department during the year.

The regular bills and pay-rells were approved and the meeting adjourned.

THE MISSION CAUSE. ITS ADVANCEMENT ADVOCATED IN

THE CENTENNIAL MEETINGS

Able Addresses by Drs. Turpin, Tichenor, Wharton, and Others-Special Bervices in the Churches Tc-Morrow.

The centennial missionary meetings were continued at the First Baptist church yesterday. The morning services were attended by a large company of people, who were greatly interested in the address of Dr. J. B. Turpin, of Charlottesville, who spoke on "William Cary's Life and Work in India." The speaker showed the most Work in India." The speaker showed the most intimate acquaintance with Cary's life from boyhood, through his apprenticeship to the shocmaker's trade, as preacher of the great sermon that inspired the hearts of those who heard it to form the first foreign missionary society, and as missionary of the society to India. He told of Cary's friendship with the prominent government authorities of India and of his numbership in nearly every scientific society of the time.

There were several other short addresses.
A meeting of the Baptist ministers and others interested in the work was held at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon at the foreign-mission rooms for the purpose of organizing the forces of the State for a successful prosecution of centennial work during the summer.

State for a successful prosecution of centennial work during the summer.

FINE ADDRESSES LAST NIGHT.

The night meeting was conducted by Rev. Dr. Wharton, of Norfolk, chairman of the State Centennial Committee. The first speaker was Rev. H. A. Bagby, of Suffolk. His theme was "The Heresy of the Anti-Misston Spirit." The closing century has removed all doubt of the obligation of the Christian Church to evangelize the world. To deny this obligation is heresy—the worst heresy of Protestantism.

Rev. Dr. Tichenor, secretary of the Heme Board at Atlanta, was heartily welcomed in an address of great power. The thought of the world's redemption, he said, is the grandest thought ever projected on the human intelligence by the Divine wisdom. To us is committed the obligation by the most sacred authority. The self-denying life of God's only son is the model of our obedience to this authority as His agents in the redemption of the world. Eloquently and pathetically Dr. Tichenor pleaded for self-denial for the sake of those who have never heard the tidings of Christ's salvation.

Rev. A. E. Owen, D. D., of Portsmouth, was introduced, but said the best speech for him to make was to pronounce the benediction. With this service the meetings closed. They have been of great inspiring power in the mission cause.

ANSIVERSARY AND CHILDRENS-DAY.

The Carnival at Belvidere Hall.

The large crowd that attended the Carnival last night was well rewarded by the interesting doll drill, which was given under the direction of Miss Lummie Cunningham. It embraced many novel and skilful menneuvres. Miss Virginia Talbott was leader in the drill and the following young ladies took part: Misses Laura Taylor, Sadie Cunningham, Marie Curtis, Blanche Walsh, Juliet Woody, Evie Prosser, Effic Prosser, Katle McPhall, Minnie Goeien, and Ruth Cunningham.

In addition to the drill Miss Cunningham recited a very laughable selection, entitled "No Half Doinis," which elicited much applause, and as an encore she rendered in a very life-like manner a version of the word "Flirtation."

The voting contest for the most popular minister continues to be interesting. Dr. Landrum still leads, with Drs. Hutson and Hatcher close behind.

A Charming Lawn-Party.

A most delightful lawn-party was given at No. 203 west Frankin street last evening from 4 to 11 octock, under the auspices of the lady managers of the Charity Ball for the benefit of 8t. Paul's Church Home. There was must, mirth, and dancling in abundance, and refreshments sere bountiful. Those present embraced the most fashionable society folks in the city, and the event was greatly enjoyed. The lawn-party took the place of the annual Charity Ball, which was not given on account of Mrs. Haxall's death.

Another Magnificent Audience.

Another magnificent audience attended the entertainment at the academy last night for the benefit of the Staart monument. In every respect the performance was a complete success, the applause frequently being loud and vociferous. The negro singing was of a varied and most amusing character and would have reflected creafit upon any travelling ministrel organization. The military and Lee-Camp veterans, who appeared in some of the mest exciting scenes, won well-deserved plaudits.

Captain Frank W. Cunningham, of the Walker Light Guard, which body participated in the Memorial-Day exercises of the Hebrew Ladies' Association, has received a latter from the secretary of the latter organization thanking the galant soldiers for being present so Memorial-Day and for the delightful music they rendered upon that occasion.

The electric-lights now being placed in private sections of the street will be awong from the middle of the theroughfares instead of on the corners, as heretofore. ABOUT DISSOLUTION OF PARLIAMENT Business Interests Suffering-Interna tional Monetary Conference.

Copyrighted, 1892, by the New York Associated London, May 27.—A Cabinet council was convened to-day for the special purpose of determining the date of the dissolution of Parliament. It was attended by all the Ministers except Mr. Stanhope, Secretary for War, who is recruiting his health at Aix Les Baines. The importance of the occasion brought Lord Ashburne, Lord Chancellor of Ireland, from the south of France. He arrived in the city this morning. Mr. Ritchie, president of the Local-Government Board, who is just convalescent from an illness, also deemed the occasion important enough for him to take part in the proceedings, although he had not fully recovered his health.

There is undoubted eagerness on the part of a majority of the Unionist members to end the existing suspense at the earliest possible moment.

BUSINESS INTERESTS SUFFERING. Prior to the beginning of the Cabinet council a number of the members had an interview with Mr. Balfour and impressed him with the necessity of settling the question of dissolution without delay, as their personal engagements were paralyzed, and the business of the country was suffering from the uncertainty in regard to the matter.

suffering from the uncertainty in regard to the matter.

The almost unanimous representations which were made to the Conservative whips, with a view of influencing the Cabinet, advised that the dissolution of Parliament either take place at the end of June or be postponed until the spring of 1893. The tenor of the communications made by the whips to members after the council indicated a decision to proceed with the Irish local-government bill and the abandonment of the intention to resort to an early dissolution. Mr. Balfour promises a definite declaration on the evening of the Whitsuntide adjournment.

TIME TO COMPLETE A SCHEME. TIME TO COMPLETE A SCHEME.

It is understood that Mr. Balfour demanded of his colleagues time to complete his scheme of legislation, even though it be necessary to adjourn at the end of July and hold a winter session. The decision will enrage the opposition, who without delay will resort to every device to obstruct government business; but it will be approved by the majority of the Unionists, though it will embarrass many who relied upon dissolution in June as inevitable. To-night's issue of the Globa accurately reflects the Tory view of the position by maintaining that it is the duty of the government not to defer to their opponents' clamor for a general election, but to press forward the hish local government measure to a period when, as the act of Conservatives, they can watch its administrative practice. If the Conservative anticipations taking formationight be fulfilled no Gladstonean government will be possible until the end of the spring of 1893, and no Home Rule until 1894, while Mr. Balfour's local-government measure, having a clear year to operate, must complicate Mr. Gladstone's task in creating a new Irish administration.

Secretary Foster's formal programme for the discussion at the international mon-ctary conference, if received by Mr. Goschen, has not yet been communicated to his colleagues. A reliable authority tells the Associated Press correspondent here that Mr. Goschen's acceptance of Secretary Foster's invitation has met with a diverse comment from some of the Cabinet members, notably Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, who is of the opinion that Mr. Goschen ought to have refused to accept it, and ought even now to withdraw his acceptance of the basis framed by Secretary Foster as committing England to anything. The ministerial opponents of the conference think that Mr. Goschen too easily surrendered to Secretary Foster's arguments, and hope that certain influences now being used with the European governments will prevent their sending delegates. High financial houses in London, Berlin, and Vienna oppose the conference. In spite of these and other undercurrents, however, the Treasury here takes the conference as a settled fact.

DISPATCH.

WHAT THE PROGRAMME SHOWS.

WHAT THE PROGRAMME SHOWS.

The programme which has been prepared for the Congress of the Chambers of Commerce of the empire, which will open on June 28th, shows considerable progress in the protectionist movement. Delegates from leading chambers of Great Britain, Canada, Australia, India, New Zealand, and Cape Colony will take part in the congress. The proposed resolutions favor a commercial union of the Empire, the establishment of the differential rates between Great Britain and her colonies, the preference of home production as against foreign products, Great Britain to grant a tariff discriminating against foreign grain, the formation of boards of labor arbitration in all centres of industry, an imperial registration of trademarks, and an imperial penny postage.

Finally the Chamber of Commerce of congress. From present indications this gathering will be the greatest trade demonstration ever held in England. Although the programme is ostensibly based upon the principles of imperial federation league, the revival of protection is the prevailing spirit.

Now that the "summer days are nigh" the old City Hall, in which the officers of the government have to work, is by no means the most comfortable place. Recently the disagreeable surroundings have been aggravated by a most cruel nuisance. The pulverized granite from the new City Hall lies scattered in most minute and numberless particles along Broad street and in front of the northern entrance to the old hall. The amount of travel over the street just here is very great, and the vehicles grind this into fine masses. These are caught up by the gusts of wind and whirled into the cierks office of the Chancery Court, stinging face and features of cierks and lawyers who daily come hither to examine records, and greatly adding to the corroding touch of time upon valuable city property and papers. Colonel Cutshaw has recommended three times the sprinkling of the street, and favors it now, but he told a Disparch reporter that this matter came under the control of the health department. The heat would be unbearable if the windows were closed. If open, the street, unless it is sprinkled, furnishes an unabated nuisance.

People Overcome by Perfames. [St. Louis Globe-Democrat.]

There are some constitutions that cannot stand perfumes. The patchouli, a pertume readily recognized in India ink or the India shawls, is to some persons almost rank poison. Ladies have been known to faint after wearing India shawls or painting with India ink, and a sachet which has patchouli as the flavoring essence is to many persons extremely unhealthy. Whether the perfume causes nervous complications or exeites nausea cannot be ascertaned, but it is certain that some constitutions will not bear it, and a lady finding herself losing appetite and strength, or having healsches that have no explained cause, might look for the reason in some perfume that she is in the habit of using. On some persons the musk has a similar effect, others are sickened by some one or other of the volatile oils derived from flowers, while more rarely the odor of apples or of other fruit has an unfavorable effect on persons of peculiar temperament. As a rule whatever perfume is unpleasant to the, individual should be avoided, but as exceptions occur to every rule, nervousness or debility which cannot be accounted There are some constitutions that cannot the, individual should be avoided, but as exceptions occur to every rule, nervous ness or debility which cannot be accounted for may sometimes be explained by the use of a well-known perfume.

(By telegraph to the Dispatch.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 27.—The Free-Silver Convention met to-day at 19:15 o'clock A. M. and was in session the greater part of the day and evening listening to speeches. Nothing else was done. Among the speakers were gentlemen from Kansas, Pennsvivania, Virginia, Colorado, and Ohio, and Morton frewen, the well-known free-coinage writer of England.

At the evening session the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, with the single gold standard, relief from the evils of continued failing prices is impossible; and whereas the restoration of the bi-metallic standard with the coinage of both metals on equal terms lies at the foundation of all economic reform; therefore Reserved, That the free and unlimited coinage of silver on equal terms with that of gold, and on the ratio now established by the law, is the garamount issue before the American people be-day and shall not be suppressed:

copie to-dsy and shall not be sup-ressed:
Resoived, That we in answer to the smand for honest money, deciare that the botor shall have discharged his full duty to was full legal-tender at that time the debt was contracted.

Resolved, That we will not support for legislative or executive office any candidate who is not thoroughly committed by platform and declaration to the full restoration of monetary system voluntarily disturbed by the legislation demonetizing sliver in 1873.

It was also resolved that a bimetallic league be formed, the object of which shall be to unittedly resist the purpose to fasten forever on the country the single gold standard.

The league is to hold its first annual meeting at Washington, D. C., on the 22d day of February, 1893.

The convention elected the following officers for the league for the ensuing year; A. J., Warner, of Ohlo, president; Secretary, Lee Crandall, of Washington, D. C.; Treasurer Colonel J. P. Klingle, of Washington, D. C.

People's Party Convention. [By telegraph to the Dispatch.]

indianapolis, Ind., May 27.—The State convention of the People's party attracted more attention from the other parties to-day than did the Prohibition convention yesterday. This was largely due to the fact that most of the delegates are recent deserters of the old parties. Seven hundred and tweaty delegates were present. The temperance question threw the convention into an uproar. By an immense majority the temperance plank was excluded from the platform. A financial plank was adopted.

Hill Committees Meet This Afternoon.
The various committees appointed by the Pegram Battation Association to make arrangements for the unveiling of the Hill monument will report at the Virginia Mechanics' Institute this atternoon at 6 o'clock. Final details will be arranged at this meeting, and the official programme will be made out. A Mean Advantage

(Puck.)
It was just as we were starting;
And I hope you understand,
It was but to break the parting
That I let him take my hand. Then he asked me something. Surely I had, meant to answer "No"; But he held my hand securely, And—be wouldn't let it go!

It Is Out of the Ouestion

for us to talk about our Spring Suits if the fact that we are selling them has no weight with you. Perhaps you think that is a simple, ordinary, every-day an-nouncement which isn't worth any more than simple, ordinary, every-day attention. Don't you believe it! What is there so very wonderful about it? Well, just this: When you buy one of these Suits you spend about 25 per cent, less than such a purchase ever before cost you, and, on a comparatively small scale, you never did a shrewder little stroke of business for yourself.
